FPSOs – Weathering The Storm Or Sinking Beneath The Waves?

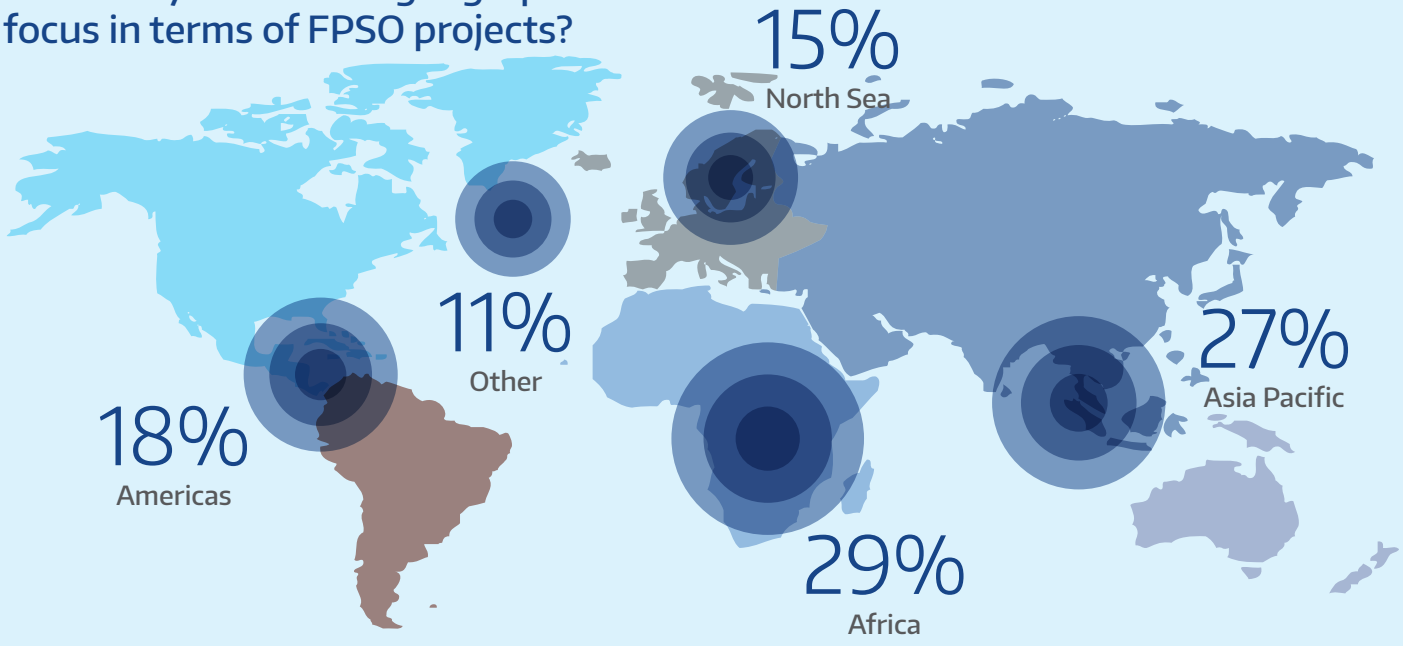

The floating production, storage and offloading (FPSO) sector is likely to see between $80-$120 billion-worth of investment through 2019, and that is with the oil industry experiencing its worst downturn in a generation.

With challenging times ahead, we drew upon the best bellwether in times of industry upheaval - our vast and growing membership of FPSO professionals - to see where you believed that 2015 was going to take us. Below is what we found, according to you, the citizens of the global FPSO community:

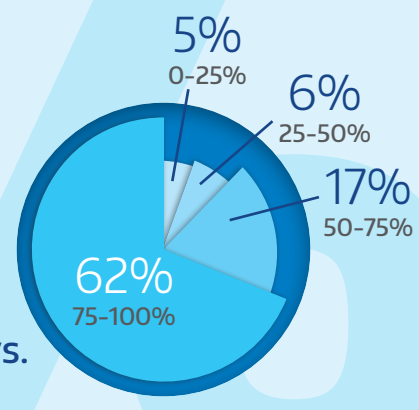

$80 – $120 billion through 2019
